

Best-Ordered Car Death of Visiting Woman

Inquest into the death of Mrs. Minnie Nounes, 78, who was killed in a truck-car collision, was set for 3 p.m. today, prosecuting attorney Lloyd said Friday noon.

The accident occurred at a country crossroads a mile east of Kimberly, north of Kimberly early Thursday evening. Nounes died soon afterward. The sedan in which she was traveling collided with a potato truck.

Driver Faces Topsy Charge in Car Crash

Drunken driving charges have been filed against Rex Hedrick, 27, Springfield, Mo., as a result of an accident at 11:30 p.m. Thursday, State Patrolman Eugene Hager reports. The accident happened on highway 25 at the east end of Jerome.

Patrolman Hager said Hedrick's 1951 Chevrolet collided with a truck driven by Seymour Jones, Brigham City, Utah, causing $5,000 damage to the truck and demolishing the Chevrolet. In addition $250 damage resulted to Leonard Shulsen's pea field. The truck left the highway, skidding a fence and irrigation ditch. Fuel oil was spilled on the ground.

Hedrick, a patient at St. Benedict's hospital, has a broken leg and a broken rib. He has not yet appeared in court in answer to the charge.

William S. Woodland, Jr., 18, route 1, North Pocatello, was committed to the Twin Falls county jail Friday morning when he was unable to pay a fine of $75 and $3 costs in Twin Falls justice court after pleading guilty of reckless driving.

Wins Victory on Issues of Troop Use

WASHINGTON, April 30 (U.P.)—The administration today won a victory today with the defeat of a proposal that have put limits on the President's power to send troops into embattled southeast Asia.

Senator Joseph W. Martin, Jr., declared, "It was a vote of confidence on the part of the house that President Eisenhower will come to congress before any decisive action is taken to send forces to Indochina."

The proposal, to bar the dispatch of troops abroad without congressional approval, was beaten 214 to 37 yesterday only a few hours after Mr. Eisenhower's announcement that he would not hamper his power to act swiftly in uncertain and fluid situations.

The House afterward went on to pass $77 to 0 the $28,684,250,486 defense appropriations bill to which the troop ban would have been an amendment. It now goes to the senate.

Bill Attacked

Democrats attacked the big money bill as cut dangerously thin, particularly in view of the grave situation in Indochina. But they offered no amendments to fatten it up and voted for it on final passage.

Actually, the measure was out $1,202,804,514 below what the President requested and totaled $6,629,070,514 less than the services got for the current year.

Plans for Bill

Rep. Frederic Coudert, R., N. Y., pleaded for adoption of his troop ban to reassert the authority of congress to declare war. But administration forces denounced the proposal as dangerous and he was able to muster only a handful of votes.

The defense bill carries funds to run the army, navy and air force in the 12 months starting July 1. The army would get $7,610,686,888. The navy would get $6,939,933,014 below what President Eisenhower requested and the $5,318,339,014 less than the army's appropriation for the current fiscal year.

Earnings Given On Road Project

Workmen will begin Monday to lay concrete pavement on the highway between Magic Valley Memorial hospital and Five Forks.

E. Robertson, general superintendent of the Carl Halverson Construction company of Portland, Ore., said the road will not be closed to traffic in event of storms. Workmen will be used to direct traffic.

Over, should storms or rains divert traffic to the exposed grade below the concrete pavement would not be closed to traffic. The section of highway will be closed in event of inclement weather, Robertson stressed.

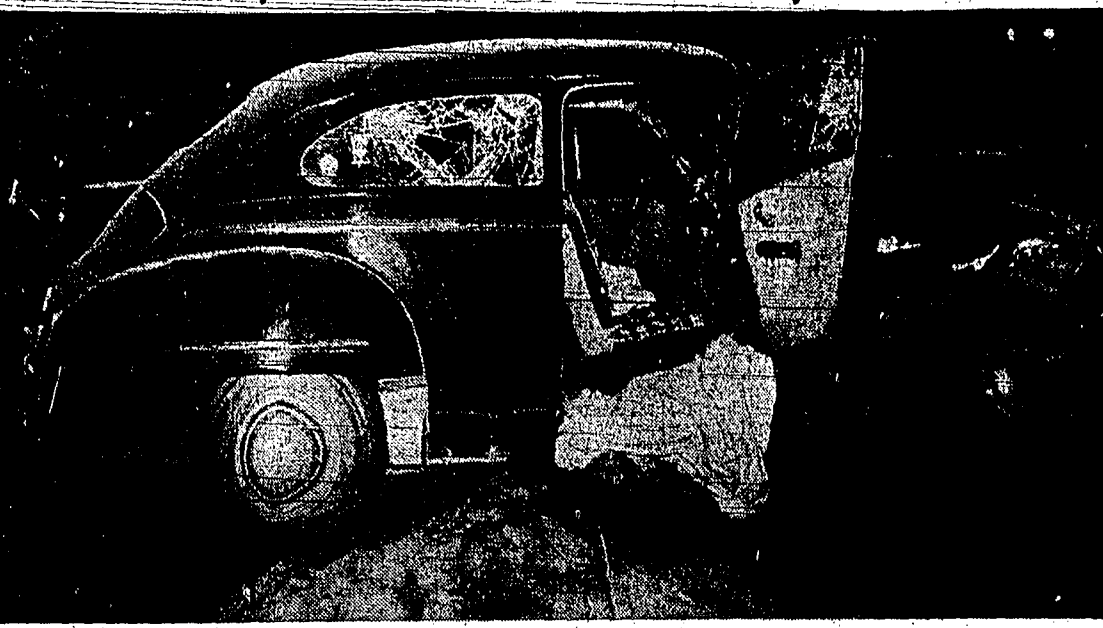

Western Big Three and Soviet Group Reach Accord on Indochina Parleys

GENEVA, April 30 (U.P.)—The western big three and the Soviet bloc agreed in principle today on a nine-member Indochina peace conference.

Informed western sources said Russia apparently dropped an earlier demand that India be included. Principals in the conference would be the United States, Britain, France, the Soviet Union, Red China, the three associates of Indochina and representatives of the Indochinese communist rebels.

The agreement was reached at a luncheon conference among Britain's Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden,

Posse Jamboree Set At T.F. Field May 31

Preliminary plans for a Golden Jubilee posse and riding club jamboree May 31 at Frontier field were announced Friday by Paul Warberg, marshal of the June 1 parade.

Five posses or riding clubs from Gooding, Shoshone, Hailey, Richfield and Twin Falls will participate in the jamboree and the next day in the parade which officially opens the summer long Golden Jubilee observance.

Edwin Lierman, Glover, is chairman in charge of arrangements. The event is being sponsored by the Twin Falls County Rangers. Dallas McGuire, Twin Falls, is posse captain.

Grounds and stables are being provided by the Frontier Riding club. Half the proceeds, after expenses, will be donated to the Twin Falls Cerebral Palsy school, according to Warberg.

Vehicles Needed

Trucks and vehicles manufactured through 1924 are needed for the parade. An appeal has been made to residents of the Hailey and Bellevue areas to enter ancient vehicles in the parade. Warberg said the area has a wealth of vehicles that can be used in the June 1 event.

He also noted letters have been sent to all Magic Valley hands asking them to participate.

A reviewing stand for the parade will be erected in front of the Bank and Trust building, Warberg reports. County and city commissioners and other dignitaries will review the parade from the platform.

Delegates Sought

Valley towns have been contacted to send a delegate to represent their communities on the reviewing stand. Special efforts are being made to have Gov. Len Jordan in Twin Falls for the event.

Persons with horses, teams and ancient wagons, cars and coaches are being asked to register with the chamber office.

Chappell's testimony followed earlier statements by federal housing administration officials that "FHA-insured loans were often increased during the building period at the request of the builder but never decreased, even though actual costs might be running far less than the loan."

Senator Capehart, R., Ind., committee chairman, has estimated that sponsors of the 7,000-odd projects built during the life of the expired program ran up "windfall" profits to an aggregate of half a billion dollars—the difference between their FHA-insured loans, supposed to represent no more than 90 per cent of estimated cost, and their actual construction costs.

Capehart read into the record, meanwhile, a letter from George McGraw, one of the sponsors of 11 projects known as Glen Oak Village in Long Island. These 11 projects, it has been brought out in testimony, received FHA-insured loans of more than 24 million dollars and were built for 20 million.

Normal

Magic Valley will experience nothing unusual in the way of weather in the next five days, says the five-day forecast received here Friday via Associated Press.

"This sort of thing can't last too much longer," said the AP reporter as he read this forecast.

Temperatures averaging near normal. Maximums ranging from 50 to 55 beginning period, to 64 or 70 last half of period. Minimums 24 to 34 beginning of period, rising eight degrees last half of period. Precipitation light, ranging from .00 to .10 of an inch, mostly at first part of period." (Probably)

Fire Destroys Elmore Home

GLENN'S FERRY, April 30—Within 20 minutes Wednesday afternoon, the 68-year-old ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Sellman, four miles northwest of Glenn's Ferry, was destroyed by fire. Nothing in the house was saved, including 35 canaries and two parrots Mr. and Mrs. Sellman were raising.

The house carried no insurance and had no fire protection. The Glenn's Ferry fire department was unable to fight the flames since the ranch is located outside of its area. The county area has no fire department.

The fire is believed to have been caused by faulty wiring in a deep freeze unit on the rear porch. Flames had burned the porch and a rear bedroom before they were discovered by Mrs. Sellman and her mother, Mrs. Sarah Gosvener, Nampa, who was visiting her daughter. A high wind whipped the flames through the frame building almost immediately.

Sellman, a conductor for the railroad, was not home. The Sellmans plan to move to one of the two other buildings on the ranch.

Speaker for Women Lists Responsibility

Contributions to community education and improvement are the responsibilities of members of the American Association of University Women, 75 AAUW delegates were told here Friday morning as they met in the city hall to open their annual state convention.

Speaking on "Functions of headquarters," Dr. Helen D. Bragdon, PhD, Washington, D.C., AAUW general director, charged the delegates with "living up to your three responsibilities."

She listed them as "the responsibilities of the association members for her own continuing education; for contributions to the educational program of her own community. And for the working for general betterment of the community through community projects."

Dr. Bragdon reviewed the general study program of the association, calling attention to the group's slogan "Study without stop." It is a study program of the community through community projects.

Dr. Bragdon reviewed the general study program of the association, calling attention to the group's slogan "Study without stop." It is a study program of the community through community projects.

The association's study program is designed to help women in education, international relations, social studies, the status of women, and art study groups.

Through the association, the speaker asserted, women scholars from 22 foreign countries are studying in the United States. Fellowships range from $1,500 to $3,000. Association fellowships since the 1980's exceed $1,000,000, she said.

During the first business session Friday morning, a report of the nominating committee by Mrs. H. Lloyd Young, Rupert, listed Mrs. William S. Granger, Jr., Boise, unopposed for election to the presidency. Candidates for first vice president are Mrs. George W. Zeller, Wallace, and Mrs. Donald Morbeck, Kellogg; second vice president, Mrs. C. V. Johnson, Idaho Falls, and Mrs. Kales Lowe, Burley; recording secretary, Mrs. Lloyd Huppel, Boise, and Mrs. Earl Feltner, Twin Falls; treasurer, Olive Spreiter, Postleff, and Gertrude Gilbert, Coeur d'Alene.

The convention was opened at 9:30 a.m. by Mrs. Leon C. Jones, Caldwell, formerly Twin Falls, state president, following registration at the city hall. The invocation was read by the Rev. W. A. MacArthur, pastor of the Methodist church, and (Continued on Page 16, Column 1)

Army Experts Endorse Two Dams in State

WASHINGTON, April 30 (U.P.)—The board of army engineers for rivers and harbors approved today construction by the engineers of two Clearwater river dams in Idaho at an estimated cost of $309,200,000.

Involved are flood control and power projects at Bruce Eddy and Penny Cliffs.

The board's action is a step ahead in a move to get congress to authorize the projects and to appropriate money to pay for them.

Project Studied

Five private utilities in the Pacific northwest are considering construction of power dams at Bruce Eddy and Penny Cliffs. They have applied for preliminary permits which would give them priority at the two sites.

Bruce Eddy, in the Clearwater's middle fork, would cost an estimated $117,500,000. The 570-foot-high dam would store 1,433,000 acre-feet of water and produce 240,000 kilowatts of power.

Penny Cliffs, 590 feet high, would cost an estimated $191,700,000, store 2,300,000 acre-feet of water and produce 292,000 kilowatts.

Compos Plan

The dams are parts of the army's control plan for the Columbia river and its tributaries.

Projects in the middle reach of Snake river were investigated last year by army and reclamation bureau engineers.

The bureau's recommendation on construction of a dam or dams in the Mountain Sheep area of the Snake will be made public in a few weeks, the board was told by a bureau spokesman.

Idaho Will Get Vaccine Later

BOISE, April 30 (U.P.)—Arrival date of vaccine for Idaho's anti-polio field test has been postponed, L. J. Peterson, director of the state public health department, was informed today.

Peterson said the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis told him the shipments—which were to have arrived here today—will be scattered throughout the coming week.

The director said he had been assured that shipments would arrive in plenty of time for the field tests, which are to start Monday in New Potosi county on 440 second graders. Bannock and Blingham counties, with a combined total of 1,876 possible test subjects, have scheduled the shots for May 10, and Ada county, with 1,638 second graders, is to start the program May 12.

California, Nevada Interests Oppose Freight Rate Change

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30 (U.P.)—Proposals to change freight rates for railroad hauling in the west were opposed by California and Nevada interests at an interstate commerce commission hearing yesterday.

S. C. Knight, assistant general traffic manager of the Kaiser Steel corporation, Fontana, Calif., said his corporation "firmly opposes establishment of uniform class rates" for western shippers.

Knight said the class rates would place western industry "in jeopardy" and "disrupt the satisfactory pattern of special rates" as they now exist.

P. Steele Labagh, traffic manager of the California Packing corporation, told the commissioners that his company agreed completely with the Kaiser position. California's packing represents 84 per cent of the state's canners.

Earlier, E. H. Walker, representing the Reno and Elko, Nev., Chambers of Commerce, said the proposals create "operating inefficiency" by encouraging "long-haul transportation of merchandise in small quantities" instead of "in carloads or substantial quantities."

Large Labor Unions Plan On Program

WASHINGTON, April 30 (U.P.)—The coal, steel and teamsters unions today formed an informal alliance of their combined three million members to cooperate politically and prod the government into a spending program to combat unemployment.

WASHINGTON, April 30 (U.P.)—The presidents of three of the nation's top labor unions met today to discuss ways their organizations "can be of assistance to each other."

Announcement of the meeting by Dave Beck of the AFL Teamsters—in Chicago last night brought speculations a big labor merger was in the works.

John L. Lewis of the Independent United Mine Workers and David J. McDonald of the CIO Steelworkers were the other two principals. Beck, before leaving for Washington, declined to discuss the subject matter of the meeting.

Beck told a reporter he did not have authority from the AFL council to invite Lewis and McDonald to join the American Federation of Labor. However, in an address last night at a conference of his union, the teamsters chief said:

"I not only want the CIO to join the AFL in a common labor organization, I also want the United Mine Workers and other independent organizations... and I would utilize every resource at my command to aid and assist in bringing that about."

He told a reporter he personally was "greatly in favor" of asking the mine workers to join the federation.

Beck, also an AFL vice president, told the conference he was "100 per cent for unity within the trade union movement."

In announcing today's meeting with McDonald and Lewis, Beck told the conference they planned to "exchange views on how our three organizations can be of assistance to each other."

Food Supply May Increase From Now on

WASHINGTON, April 30 (U.P.)—The agriculture department said today food supplies for late spring and early summer may be even more plentiful than the bountiful supplies of 1953.

It said Americans are likely to eat more chicken, eggs and dairy products than a year earlier, with output of these products high and prices lower.

Meat May Decline

Supplies of meat will be somewhat below the high level of last spring because of a cutback in the pig crop last fall, the department said in a report on the national food situation. But marketings of hogs are expected to be heavier later in the year, reflecting a larger pig crop this spring, the report said.

Planting surveys were said to indicate that spring vegetable and melon production this year will be above last year, but that the spring crop of strawberries and peaches in the south will be off.

Demand Seen Strong

Demand for food is expected to continue strong the next few months. Retail prices for many cereal products and fats and oils other than butter probably will continue a little above those of last spring, the report said.

The department also said prices of potatoes, sweet potatoes, some fresh vegetables, as well as dairy and poultry products are expected to be lower than a year ago.

Official Urges U.S.-Canadian Defense Wall

NEW YORK, April 30 (U.P.)—Rep. W. Sterling Cole has called for a joint U.S.-Canadian air defense to build an atomic wall against hydrogen attacks on North American cities.

Cole, chairman of the joint congressional atomic energy committee, said discoveries since 1950 make it practical to manufacture "small scale" atomic weapons designed to intercept enemy planes while they are still far out to sea.

Says Need Exists

The New York Republican said there is need for a defense in depth if the United States is to take advantage of the new atomic interpenetration. He said the weapons would have to be used far from population centers because of the danger involved.

Addressing a College of University anniversary banquet in New York last night, Cole said a combined U.S.-Canadian air defense command is needed to guard against the "unprecedented" threat of Russian atomic attack.

Plan Under Study

High military sources said such a command has been under consideration but is not deemed necessary at this time.

Cole charged that creation of an effective U.S.-Canadian air defense is bogged down in a "bureaucratic maze" despite four years of joint consultations.

Boise Bus Found Far From Home

MOUNTAIN HOME, April 30 (U.P.)—A Boise bus turned up here today, some 45 miles off the city routes it normally travels.

Boise police said it was stolen from the Boise Bus company about 2 a.m. Ada and Elmore county officers are trying to find out who used it for the joy ride and abandoned it.

How TCP Unlocks the Captive Power in Your Engine

Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP, the greatest Gasoline Development in 31 Years, overcomes Pre-Ignition and Spark Plug Misfiring

Did you know there's up to 15% more power in your engine that you're not getting?
What's more, all of this power is being held captive unnecessarily.
It's Like This:
Every mile you drive puts lead and carbon deposits in your engine. In the combustion chamber and on the tips of your spark plugs.
In the combustion chamber, these deposits glow red hot, especially when you accelerate or climb a hill. This sets off the fuel charge before the piston reaches its proper firing position. Power works against you, not for you.
On the spark plugs these same deposits cause short circuits. Your engine misses, especially when it is under load.
Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP changes all this, before you've used even two tankfuls.
What Happens is This:
Shell Premium with TCP stops that wasteful pre-ignition by "fireproofing" the deposits. Power works for you. And, because TCP additive makes the deposits non-conductors of electricity, your plugs fire on time.
The net to you is more power. Up to 15% more. This power is waiting to be used and not wasted. Moreover, you get up to 2 1/2 times longer spark plug life.
Shell Premium with TCP additive goes to work unlocking that captive power with the very first gallon. By the time you've finished your second tankful you'll feel your engine's had a tune-up. There's nothing like Shell Premium with TCP. It's a Shell discovery and the only place you can get it is at Shell dealers.

ARMY IN POLITICS

Anyone who sees the McCarthy-army hearings on live television or film cannot help but be struck by a fact at once obvious yet of overriding significance: the presence of the United States army smack in the middle of a political brawl.

The physical symbol of that presence is of course the host of beribboned top army officers who assemble in the senate caucus room for the airing of this dispute.

Some of these soldiers are there because they must testify. But others, including Army Chief of Staff General Ridgway, have come to demonstrate their solidarity in support of Secretary of the Army Robert Stevens and the army's chief counsel, John Adams.

But what the cameras do not show is that others in the army, including a few of general officer rank, have given vocal support to Senator McCarthy in talks with their subordinates and elsewhere.

In other words, the army presently is torn by the same sort of political divisions that appear in the fabric of the whole nation. Yet by long tradition, the army has always been above and apart from politics.

It was taken as axiomatic that the army could not function effectively as a professional fighting force if it was not kept free of political turmoil.

What has happened to weaken this tradition?

Some will say the army has been dragged into politics by the politicians, who no longer regard any preserve of government as sacred from their intrusion. This may be at least partly true, but it seems hardly the whole story.

The army today, like the entire defense establishment, is much more a civilian and civil servant organization than ever in its history. This is the product of its great peacetime size.

And civilians neither feel the same limits on political expression that soldiers feel, nor are they protected as well from outside assault.

Underlying all this, however, is a matter of greater meaning. The army is no longer an insulated cadre of professional fighting men. Together with the navy and air force, it is in many ways the dominant fact in our national life. It is the measure of our security in a terribly insecure world.

Since defense is such a big part of government, since military policy bears so heavily on all policy today, it is perhaps inevitable that the plans and performance of the armed forces and their civilian managers should command paramount attention.

We are all deeply concerned with the decisions affecting what the army will spend and what weapons it procures, its technical progress, its stimulus toward advanced tactics and strategy, its efficiency, its morale, and its own security from subversive infiltration.

But if it is inescapable that these issues be topics of hot political debate, the debaters nevertheless ought to refrain from drawing army professionals into alliance on either side of a controversy.

If political factions are to be sharply reflected within the army, its value as a fighting force will clearly diminish and the security it is intended to provide will be seriously lessened.

CHIANG'S 'FORGOTTEN' FORCE

In all the argument over whether or not to recognize red China, one very powerful element in the picture is often overlooked: The millions of overseas Chinese living in Asiatic lands like Malaya, Indochina, Thailand, Burma and other places.

So long as most western powers (except Britain), continue to recognize the Nationalist Chinese regime on Formosa, these 12 million overseas Chinese are in effect "neutralized" and do no major work in the cause of communism.

This is not to imply there are no backsliders among them, but simply to say that most appear loyal to Chiang Kai-shek.

If red China suddenly became the recognized regime, all these Chinese would thereafter owe allegiance, theoretically at least, to Peking. They could become a tremendous infiltrating force for communism in these other lands, already menaced by the red onslaught.

Obviously there is great value in keeping these millions neutralized.

FEWER STRIKES

Whatever union officials may think and say about the administration's labor policies, U. S. strikes in February were at a new eight-year low for the month. Department of labor figures show 200 new strikes reported in February, 1954. They involved 50,000 workers.

All strikes in progress during the month, including those that started previously, numbered 360. They involved 100,000 workers.

Since all of the strikes were small, total man-days of idleness were estimated at 750,000, or less than one tenth of one per cent of all working time in all industries.

Main reason given for the low strike record is, of course, that there has been considerable unemployment. When jobs are scarce, people hang onto them tighter, and there is less opportunity for union bargaining agents to make new demands on employers.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—Any firm which has a disproportionate share of its retail market, such as Ford and General Motors enjoy in the automobile field, operates a monopoly under the Eisenhower administration's anti-trust philosophy, even though its dominant position has been achieved only by superior management, selling techniques and industrial genius. It does not have to engage in unfair, unethical or illegal practices to be guilty of violating the Sherman act.

To the amazement of prominent lawyers and industrialists, the department of justice and federal trade commission are applying this yardstick in their current investigation of the automotive giants, and especially the sales race between Ford and Chevrolet cars.

Under this interpretation, a civil suit may be lodged at the conclusion of the four inquiries now under way. Other industries alleged to dominate their markets are under examination.

COUNTER TO COURT'S RULING—This interpretation of the antimonopoly statute seems to run counter to a federal court's decision in the Truman prosecution of the du Pont interests. In that proceeding, the court dismissed the indictment on the ground that the law was not designed to "penalize" mere bigness or efficiency.

Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., however, believes that the statute should be invoked to prevent a few great corporations from crushing their competitors, thus creating industrial imbalance, unemployment and ghost towns, and destroying a strong, healthy, competitive structure. No matter how attained, he envisages the inevitable result as monopoly.

Monopoly can arise, according to this viewpoint, from "fortuitous circumstances." The alleged monopolist need not have resorted to "outrageous" practices such as economic underselling, controlling raw materials or demanding exclusive and preferential treatment from suppliers or dealers. It assumes the character of a monopoly by becoming too successful.

RECALL AN FDR ATTACK—Officials entertaining this attitude do not fear that it will penalize the efficient and prop up uneconomic industrial units. Strangely enough, they recall FDR's attack on Andrew W. Mellon's Aluminum company of America, which once enjoyed a monopoly of that essential product.

Roosevelt used federal funds and favors to raise up Henry J. Kaiser and the Reynolds interests as rivals to the Pennsylvania Republic's dynasty. Alcoa's control was reduced from 90 to 40 per cent of the aluminum market. Despite a drop in prices, all three firms are highly prosperous and the consumer has profited.

Nevertheless, assuming that Ford and General Motors should be broken up, as Standard Oil was partitioned many years ago, Washington has no formula for maintaining any new automobile setup on a solid and profitable basis. It has no plan to assure that the broken-up units, through superior management and manufacturing methods, would not again dominate the market.

As of today at least, there is no suggestion of federal regulations or quotas on production and sales.

SALES FIGURES—The man largely responsible, among others, for presenting the auto problem to the department of justice and federal trade commission is Rep. S. J. Crumpacker, Jr., South Bend, Ind. Studebaker, a key South Bend employer, has recently cut its force from 24,000 to 12,000.

According to his figures, Ford and General Motors now sell 68.1 per cent of all cars, as against 65.1 in 1953. Chrysler's sales have dropped from 22.9 per cent of the total to 17.4, and the independents' from 11.3 to 6.5 per cent. Meanwhile, General Motors' sales are down only .03 per cent, and Ford's have increased by 13.5 per cent.

Production charts show the same trend, Crumpacker charges. General Motors' output has increased by 3.2 per cent over the same period in 1953; Ford's by 12.3 per cent. Chrysler is off by 48.2 per cent, and the independents by 59.7 per cent. Crumpacker also insists that the two big firms are demoralizing the market and possibly engaging in unfair practices by forced unloading of cars on dealers.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

FLEXIBILITY WORTH MAINTAINING
Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., would have been soundly advised if somebody had whispered in his ear during United Nations press conference: "Does Macy's tell Gimbels?"

This axiom of competitive merchandising is just as pertinent in the even more sharp-witted business of international diplomacy. Yet the chief American delegate to the United Nations, who just below the secretary of state in the American diplomatic hierarchy, spread it on the record in a news conference that the United States would not "shrink" from the exercise of the veto power to keep communist China out of the U. N. security council.

Next month the United States sits around the conference table with the Soviet union and red China to attempt a political settlement of the Korean and Indochina wars. Though Mr. Lodge asserts that there is "nothing official" in the connection of red membership in the U. N. and a settlement of the Asian questions, it is obvious to everybody who knows the background and setup that recognition of red China by the western world is one of the highest stakes in that the communists will bid for at Geneva.

American public opinion is as set against the admission of China to the U. N. as congress is determined that it shall not happen. But is it wise policy or smart practical politics to tip your antagonist beforehand with the information that if and when the subject of red China recognition comes up at Geneva, the arms of the American delegate are tied, that he has no room for flexibility and maneuvering because he has been solidly committed in advance?

A VANISHING CANADIAN SPECIES

A curious bit of social history is reflected in the report from the Canadian bureau of statistics that only 232 men's fur coats were made in the Dominion in 1952, a drop of 400 from 1951.

This is a sad decline from the grave days early in this century when the ambition of every right-thinking Canadian man was to own a massive and shaggy fur coat, preferably rounded out with a fur hat and fur gauntlets. On a cold day such outfits were everywhere to be seen, and they were one of Canada's most impressive specialties.

The gradual disappearance of the fur-bearing Canadian male is probably not so much the result of changes in fashion as of altered living conditions. In the old days, when going anywhere in winter meant a long walk or a slow, cold drive in a sleigh or buggy, a heavy fur coat was almost a necessity. Today, the automobile and the bus have largely removed the need for such massive protection against the weather. Before long, we suppose, only women's patronage will be left to sustain Canada's oldest industry.—Edmonton (Alberta) Journal.

EDITORIALS TOO TAME?

Now and then an old-timer will express himself along the line that the editorials in both the larger and smaller newspapers are not as sharp and cutting as was the case some fifty or sixty years ago. That probably is a fact and it is just as well that editors of today draw their conclusions more mildly and do not indulge in personalities and personal quarrels as they did in the long ago. We remember that as a lad we used to browse through the earlier editions of our father's newspaper, reading the editorials. All of our later days we have remembered one clipping from another newspaper. Twin New York newspapers the Sun and the Post were indulging in editorial warfare of no mean proportions. Both were considered conservative newspapers. But one day the staid and proper Post referred to the Sun as a "yellow dog" newspaper. In reply the Sun said: "The Post calls the Sun a yellow dog newspaper. The attitude of the Sun will continue to be that of any dog toward a post."—Grandview (Wash.) Herald.

POT SHOTS

BIT DRASTIC
Junior had heard all about the fire and was asking a flock of questions about same. Apparently the answers weren't too satisfying. Then he went to school and one of his school mates started telling all about the fire. But some of the details were a bit garbled.

So Junior got real ambitious, moved the lawn. He was real proud of his achievement, and right off the bat vowed he wasn't interested in monetary remuneration.

"But I'd sure like to go see that building that burned," he added earnestly.

He didn't get to see much except some broken glass and a broken door, but he's quite happy.

Do you suppose we could arrange a major fire every time the lawn needs to be mowed?

TARDY REPORTS DEPT.

A bunch of the boys were talking about fires in general following the blaze Wednesday night. One recalled the Shirley-Mendola store fire of a few years back. "Quite a fire and I never saw so many drunks turn out for a fire," he recalled.

He remembered that the fire department used a lot of water to control the fire. Even remembered that all sorts of items of clothing came washing out of the store.

"One drunk was standing near the curb when a new hat came floating out of the store and into the gutter. He took one look, grabbed it and gave it a quick inspection before plopping it on his head, water and all," said the crier. "Then the drunk explained, 'It's better than the one I've got!'"

THE HARD WAY DEPT.

"The girl came straight to the point. 'Mother, I spoiled your toaster,' she confessed.

Naturally, this forthright statement aroused a bit of interest on the part of her mother. The next sentence in the confession brought the matter to a swift climax: "I was making some of that milk toast," the daughter explained.

If her mother had worn false teeth, she'd have swallowed them at that stage of the explanation. Seems a piece of bread had been covered on both sides with milk or cream and then dropped into the toaster.

The mother carefully and patiently explained to her 15-year-old daughter that such toast was usually toasted in the oven of the kitchen range.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

NEW YORK—Coming down through Central park toward dusk the tall, twinkling mass of the city reminded me of a modest, gentle little man who hit town from Pawtucket with a rat-tat-tat suitcase and designed a great deal of the fabulous skyline—New York skyline.

His name was Raymond Hood. He landed in Greenwich Village, where he bustled artists, writers, architects and all such, as well as a Westbrock Pegler lot of bums of both sexes, were enjoying equal with a supercilious leer. Ray was impressively good, and his character made a hit with the Moris, pop and mom, who had a big restaurant on Bleeker street.

Ray married a beautiful young hat model with a bushel of natural blonde hair and the Moris gave them quarters somewhere on the premises in return for which Ray remodeled the restaurant. He always had a weakness for pranks in his work and at Moris' he built an inside staircase leading to a hidden bar on the second floor, which, as I look back on it now, seems to have been an ideal firetrap.

The Moris' specialty was mine-strone soup with lots of potatoes and when the panic of 1929 hit the village people would line up outside the kitchen with sauce-pans and lad-cans and the cooks would dish out the most nourishing concentrate ever known to man. They were very kind people and some clients of their generosity took advantage of them, but mom and pop couldn't bear to think of people going hungry.

Ray finally stuck it rich with a design for the Chicago Tribune tower which won him a big prize and a reputation and led to his friendship with the late J. P. Morgan of the New York News. Ray had to borrow the money for his ticket to Chicago for a big blowout in his honor at the climax of which he was handed his check.

Two years ago, John Harris, the contractor and builder, who executed a number of Ray's big jobs, told me that in obedience to the same Pukish instinct that produced the hidden barroom Ray drew into the Tribune tower a mess of ornate but absolutely meaningless architectural novelties up at the top. They don't support anything, they have no excuse and they have no name in architecture unless it be exorcism.

Some time later, Jomp asked Ray, quick-like, "Ray, what's beauty?" Ray said, "Why, utility is beauty." Jomp said, "Write me a piece about it for Liberty." Ray was stuck with an offhand paradox but he tore into the proposition and gave it a very good going-over for which Jomp paid him $1,000.

A few years later he bled at every pore for that wise-crack when Paterson commissioned him to design a home for him, up at Ossining.

Dwelling houses were out of Ray's line and he was knocked for a series of dwindling loops when Jomp said, "Remember now: Utility is beauty. If anyone says this is a pretty house you won't get a nickel."

Ray would chuckle as he told of his battles with Jomp, who wanted the effect of a string of boxcars, wanted the outside dazle-painted like the ships in World War I and, to top that, said, "and make me some new colors."

That So!

Here's Mountain That Even Tops Everest

For a change, we'll deal with the tips and downs of our earth today and wind up with the world's greatest mountain, anchored securely in our own backyard!

Of continents, Asia which has a mean height of 3,000 feet, takes the plum for having the greatest ups and downs. Mt. Everest is the highest point of land on earth, 29,141 feet (but mind, not the greatest mountain), and the shore of the Dead sea of Palestine, with —1,290 feet, is the lowest point of dry land.

South America, with Mt. Aconcagua, Chile, comes in second with 22,834 feet and is unique among all continents in having no land below sea level. The mean height of South America is 1,800 feet.

Mt. McKinley, 28,320 feet, in Alaska and Death valley, California (—278 feet) are both the highest and lowest spots in North America. (Death valley received its sinister name from a group of 30 adventurers who attempted to cross it on their way to the California gold fields in '49—18 died or thirst within sight of the snow-capped High Sierras, topped by Mt. Whitney, 14,986 feet, highest peak in the U. S. and only 84 miles away.) The mean elevation of North America is 2,000 feet.

Africa comes in fourth with Kilbo peak (Kilimanjaro) with 19,710 feet and a low spot in the Libyan desert of —460 feet.

Of the continents, Europe comes fifth with Mt. Elbrus in the Caucasus, 18,485 feet, and the 795-mile long Caspian sea of Russia, 88 feet, largest lake in the world.

Last in geographical ups and downs comes Australia. Its Mt. Kosciuszko is 7,328 feet and its Lake Eyre is —38 below sea level.

These man-made depressions in Asia (Dead sea) Europe (Caspian sea) and Australia (Lake Eyre) are particularly intriguing. To maintain their status, all have fresh water pouring in daily.

Of these, the Dead sea spreads out over 340 miles and lies at the bottom of the earth's deepest break, or fault, and has a maximum depth of 1,300 feet although one end of it is quite shallow. Each day, 6,000,000 tons of fresh water dump into this warm inland sea but the rapid evaporation keeps the level fairly constant. (At one time, the lake was much larger—filling the entire Jordan valley but it has now shrunk to about one-fourth of its area.) The surface of the Dead sea, presumably, has reached a perfect equilibrium where the surface is neither too large nor too small to produce an evaporation equal to the amount of water being dumped into it by the

'Tke' Believes Settlement of War Possible

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—President Eisenhower said yesterday a practical settlement of the Indochina war may be possible even though a complete trustworthy peace with the communists appears to be something over the horizon.

The President told his news conference the most the United States can hope for is to work out a practical way of getting along with the communists. That is what we have been doing in Europe, he said.

But Eisenhower declared emphatically it would be unacceptable to permit the whole anti-communist defense of southeast Asia to crumble and disappear.

The President thus laid new stress on his statement earlier this week that Indochina is "the cork in the bottle" whose loss to the communists would affect the fate of hundreds of millions in Asia.

1. No British advice or counsel has influenced U. S. decision in conversations between Washington and London on the question of aid to Indochina. This was his reply to a question whether the French had asked the United States for air intervention and the request was refused on British urging.

2. On a question of lagging legislation, Eisenhower said congressional leaders have assured him they will enact his program, but he wishes they would get it on the books—and soon.

3. He believes the big issue in the forthcoming congressional elections in November is whether the administration has made a record of accomplishment or—as he put it—has dilly-dallied by the way.

4. As to whether the administration is considering military aid to Israel, now that it has decided to grant such aid to Iraq, the President said we are not giving aid to anyone to start a war or indulge in conflict. The sole purpose of such aid, he said, is to oppose communism.

Payments Sought For Spud Damage

Ernest and G. A. Roland were named defendants in a $4,800 district court suit for sorting costs and damages to sacks of potatoes trampled in a potato cellar by a herd of their cattle.

The suit was brought against the two by Robert Weaver, Carl Roland, George Sergeant and M. D. White, all represented by J. Dean Mosher.

White and Sergeant, who leased the farm to the defendants, claim a number of the Rolands' cattle got into a potato cellar the night of Nov. 18, 1953, and trampled and bruised many sacks of potatoes belonging to the four plaintiffs.

White and Sergeant seek $1,230, and Roland and Weaver each ask $1,785 for sorting costs and damages to their potatoes. They also seek payment of the court costs.

Safety Record Of Boise Firm Cited at Parley

COEUR D'ALENE, April 30 (AP)—Morrison and Knudsen company, Boise, received a top award of the National Safety Council yesterday for its record of improvement, safetywise, during 1953.

Its improvement was 90 per cent above the average in industry during the year, compared with its record over the previous three years.

Award Presented
This award, plus a certificate of commendation for its safety record at the Granite Canyon, Wyo., quarry from 1951-1953, was presented by Tom Burke, San Francisco, assistant director of the Western region of the national council during a meeting of the council's Idaho chapter.

There were 228,565 man hours of work put in at the construction company's Granite Canyon operations without a disabling injury, the certificate said.

Mines Cited
Four Idaho mining companies were cited for their safety programs in awards made at a banquet session of the Idaho chapter Thursday night.

Among the larger operations, those mines putting in 250,000 or more man hours per year, Bunker Hill and Sullivan Mining and Smelting company showed the best safety record for 1953. The Page Mine was cited for showing the most improvement in safety during 1953. Both are in the Kellogg area.

The Clayton Silver mine, Clayton, and the Highland Surprise Consolidated were winners among mines using between 25,000 and 250,000 man hours per year. The Clayton mine had the best record and Highland, the most improvement.

Former Resident Claimed by Death

HAILEY, April 30—Mr. and Mrs. George Kibbie received word Thursday that Mrs. Mary Kinney, a former Bellevue and Hailey resident, died Tuesday at her home in Blackfoot.

Mrs. Kinney, who was in her late 60s, taught school in Bellevue in 1948 and in Hailey in 1949. She was a librarian at Hailey high school and taught English. She was a member of the Baptist church.

Her survivors include two sons, Roman Kinney, Atka, Alaska, and Paul Kinney, Beaverton, Ore., and two daughters, both Portland, Ore.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Saturday at Blackfoot.

Hearing Asked

Clay Parker, Kimberly, charged with lewd conduct with a minor child under the age of 16, requested a preliminary hearing when he appeared with his lawyer, J. Alfred May, at his justice court arraignment Thursday. The hearing was set for 10 a.m. Saturday, and Parker was returned to the county jail under $5,000 bond, which was continued.

Hearings Waived On Check Counts

Lucille Ambrose and Susan Polard, Rupert girls charged with cashing a check with a forged endorsement, were bound over to district court, each under a $500 bond, at their arraignment Thursday in justice court. Both waived preliminary hearings.

The girls are charged with forging an endorsement on a $52.92 check and cashing it at the Twin Falls Safeway store April 12.

11 DIE IN CRASH
BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, April 30 (AP)—A truck loaded with passengers and merchandise bound for a religious festival in San Luis province blew a tire and overturned in a flooded ditch early yesterday. Eleven passengers were killed by the crash or drowning and nine were severely injured.

FHA Inquiry

(From Page One)
In answer to an earlier letter from Thompson asking information about "Deed 15, 1948," "dividend" payment of $799,995 to sponsors of one of the 11 projects. The letter read: "Although the cash outlay made by the company is less than the estimate made by you of the normal current cost to reproduce the property (the FHA-insured loan was based on this estimate), this difference is explained by the fact that no payment was made for some expenses usually incurred in a building operation. These expenses included: "1. Builder's and architect's fees normally paid to a general contractor. "2. Sub-contractors' fees and retailers' overhead and profit where materials were procured directly by us through large-scale cash purchases. "3. Transfer, at original cost, of inventories of material, top-soil, etc., on hand."

Power Firms Eye Building After Merger

BOISE, April 30 (AP)—The president of Pacific Power and Light company said yesterday he thinks it "very likely that we might" build electric generating projects in Idaho after the firm's proposed merger with Mountain States Power company.

However, Paul B. McKee, Portland, told the Idaho public utilities commission at a hearing on the merger proposal, the firm has no definite plans for such projects.

McKee also said preliminary studies indicated the merger would make possible rate reductions in some of the north Idaho areas where Mountain States now operates.

He said he hoped that approval of the merger could be obtained from all necessary state commissions so the approvals could be in the hands of the federal power commission early in May.

The FPC cannot act on the proposal until the state commissions have done so. The Oregon and Washington commissions have given the necessary authorization. McKee said a ruling was expected any day from the Wyoming commission.

On conclusion of the hearing, a spokesman for the Idaho commission said its finding in the matter could be expected "very soon."

Mountain States operates in the vicinity of Sandpoint, as well as in other states of the Rocky mountain area.

Appears Here

GAIL WINTERS
... former Wendell pastor and present missionary who will speak Sunday for the Twin Falls Assembly of God church.

Missionary to Speak Sunday

Gail Winters, former Wendell pastor and missionary for 15 years in the Belgian Congo, will speak at 11 a. m. Sunday in the Assembly of God church, the Rev. Clay H. Stephens announces.

A missionary in the Congo since 1939, Miss Winters will relate experiences and tell of prospects of missions in the area. Her first station was Betongwe where she taught in the Christian day school, then she started the girls' school at Betongwe. Later, she opened an institution for orphans and children of leprosy patients.

Her last term in the field was as teacher in the Bible school at Andudu where young converts received instruction and training, enabling them to minister to their own people. She engaged in translation work.

She tells of the conversion of a Paramout chief. The result was many conversions and establishment of a church in his village.

Miss Winters attended Glad Tidings Bible Institute, Santa Cruz, Calif., and the Bible Institute of Los Angeles, Calif. She studied French in Belgium.

After visiting Assembly of God churches to present the needs of the work in the Belgian Congo, she will return to the Congo to teach in the Andudu Bible school.

WENDELL, April 30—The Red Cross bloodmobile unit collected 58 pints of blood in Wendell Tuesday. The unit was set up at the auto display room of Gates brothers, Inc. The Jaycees were in charge of arrangements. D. A. Brown was chairman.

FHA Reveals Rent Projects It Foreclosed

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—The federal housing administration has made public a list of 287 rental apartment projects which it said it had been forced to take over, by March 31, as owner or lender.

This number was out of a total of 7,032 apartment projects insured by FHA from 1952 through 1950. The agency is now under congressional investigation on accusations that in many cases the loans it insured exceeded construction costs and that the excess of the loans went into the pockets of builders, thereby boosting rents.

Construction costs of the projects which are now on the government's hands were not disclosed by FHA. An official said that the law under which the loans were insured did not require disclosure of actual building costs and that the figures are not available to it. Therefore, it could not be determined if any of the 287 projects were among those on which loans exceeded construction costs.

Foreclosures took place when the owner of the project failed to meet the terms of his loan and the lender called upon FHA, under the terms of its insurance, to reimburse him and take over the project as owner.

Among the projects taken over were three in Idaho. They are the Blaine Manor corporation, Moscow; Boise Hills Village, Inc., Boise; and Pocatello Heights corporation, Pocatello.

Winners Selected For Poster Event

JEROME, April 30—Top winners of the north side soil conservation poster contest have been announced by Dale Munk, soil conservationist.

Missionary to Talk Monday

The Rev. Paul Kreyling, missionary now on furlough from China and Japan, will speak at 8:30 p. m. Monday at the Immanuel Lutheran church.

Following his graduation from Concordia seminary, St. Louis, in 1945, the Rev. Mr. Kreyling took a post-graduate year in the department of missions at the seminary and went to China in September, 1946.

He served in Hankow, Wuchang and Shanghai until 1949 when the communists imposed restrictions on Christian mission work. From the fall of 1949 until the spring of 1953 the Rev. Mr. Kreyling served in Japan.

At present, he is in the final month of a four-month tour covering the Pacific coast states. With his family, he will return to Japan in June.

Four Heirs Given Shares in Estate

The estate of Thomas J. Douglas, who died Jan. 2, 1953, was awarded to four heirs in a probate court decree of distribution Thursday.

The Twin Falls Title and Trust company was directed to deposit $2,000 on account for Thomas Otis Scott Douglas, a minor, in accordance with terms of the will.

Robert M. Douglas, Napa, Calif., Mary Ellen Siggins, Los Angeles, and Kenneth V. Douglas, Vacaville, Calif., were awarded shares of $244.53 each in the estate, and directed to divide equally two parcels of land near Berger.

Pastor to Speak To A. F. Students

The Rev. O. B. Relts, pastor of the American Lutheran church, has been invited to be guest speaker at a banquet at St. John's Lutheran church in American Falls Wednesday evening. The banquet theme is "The S. S. you being launched on the sea of life." It honors high school graduating students of the congregation. The Women's Missionary society will serve.

Mrs. Relts will accompany her husband to American Falls. The Rev. O. W. Relts, brother of the local pastor, is pastor of St. John's church.

Final Rites Held For Albert Jones

Funeral services for Albert Jones, 87, pioneer Rock Creek rancher, were conducted at the Twin Falls mortuary chapel at 2 p. m. Friday by the Rev. Walter A. MacArthur, pastor of the First Methodist church. Music was furnished by Mrs. Nellie Ostrom Babcock. Pallbearers were John, Norris and Ora Jones, and Champ, Mack and Thetus Gray. Concluding services were held at Twin Falls cemetery.

MEETING POSTPONED
HAGERMAN, April 20—The Young Adult class of the Reorganized LDS church postponed its meeting Tuesday evening and announced no meetings will be held for two weeks.
